

The Business Side of Chiropractic

Soon you'll be a licensed D.C. – ready to start your own practice, find an associateship or work as an independent contractor. To help you get started, NCMIC has created a website with useful tools and tips from practicing D.C.s. You'll find it all at www.ncmic.com/prc.

Practice Resource Center

Learn from the experiences of other D.C.s about running a successful practice. You'll find information on:

- Planning – choosing a practice mode, legal structure and choosing a location
- Money & Credit – creating a business plan, securing financing and choosing advisors
- Getting Hired – finding a position, interviewing and evaluating offers

Planning Tools

The website includes these tools to help you start your practice:

- Starting into Practice Guide – addresses issues you'll need to consider related to practice startup and financing
- Financial Success Planner – this comprehensive tool can help you collect and organize information needed when applying for bank financing

Risk Management Expertise

Take advantage of NCMIC's risk management experience to help you avoid a malpractice claim.

You'll find case studies and more by accessing the Examiner publication and the Risk Management Library.

Malpractice Insurance and More

When you're ready to graduate, turn to the nation's largest provider of malpractice insurance for D.C.s to help you find the right coverage.

You'll also find information about other financial products and insurance services designed specifically for Doctors of Chiropractic.
